

BATTLE FOR THE WARTA LINE

Central Poland, September 6, 1939: For two days the Poles desperately tried to hold a line in the vicinity of the Warta and Widawka Rivers but were gradually pushed back. However, the stubborn resistance of the crack Polish 10th Division was threatening to throw the German invaders severely off schedule and might enable the Poznan Army to escape almost certain encirclement. Determined to break through, the Germans brought up heavy reinforcements, including the elite SS Liebstandarte Regiment and attacked once again.

Balance:

- G3: Add 12 factors of AP mines to the Polish OB
- G2: Remove a German 8-1
- G1: Add a light mortar to the Polish OB
- P1: Add two LMG to the German OB
- P2: German broken side morale is increased by one
- P3: Add a light mortar to the German OB
