

Fiefs of the “Kúrt Hills Atlas” Region

by Talzhemir

The Kúrt Hills region is composed primarily of four provinces (Méku, Alidlár, Ketvíru, and Khósa) which surround a fifth (the dramatically hilly and thickly forested Kúrtur) like petals about the center of a flower. The Kúrt Hills Atlas also includes portions of the neighboring provinces of Marélmú, Parikána, Ssá Sárku, Beranánga, and Urusái.

Fiefs do not have hard boundaries or outlines. There may be traditional arrangements such as a stone marker placed along a road between villages in two different Fiefs. There are also settlements that are not part of a fief that exist apart, usually by special arrangement with the Empire.

The following is a directory of fiefs by Large Hex numbers. It shows every fief which is found in each Large Hex, with numbers in parenthesis showing all of the Large Hexes into which that fief extends and a list of all of the cities, towns, villages, forts, ruins, and other points of interest of which it is comprised. The Large Hex in which the seat of the fief resides is underlined. The name of the city, town, village, or fort which serves as the seat is also underlined.

For a GM’s convenience, this directory is redundant. We found this was the best way to do it, through playtesting. A GM can thus choose a Large Hex in which to base their campaign, then look up which fiefs run through it. An alphabetical non-redundant list is also given, at the end.

The Khéschal cannot be tamed yet it can be befriended...

C = City T = Town V = Village F = Fort R = Ruin * = site of interest

A Note on Large Hex Numbers

Each of the Large Hexes of the Kúrt Hills Atlas has a four-digit number. The first two digits can be thought of as the ‘Y’ coordinate, and the second two can be thought of as the ‘X’ (so, it’s the reverse of the usual Cartesian system).

The large hexes (enlarged versions of the hexes which appear on the Tsolyánu map) are 100 Tsán (133.3 kilometers, or 82.8 miles) across. In addition to a Large Hex number, each small hex has a Small Hex number. A Large Hex is made up of 211 Small Hexes. Just like the Large Hexes, they are numbered from left to right and from bottom to top. (In some cases, these are actually halves of Small Hexes.)

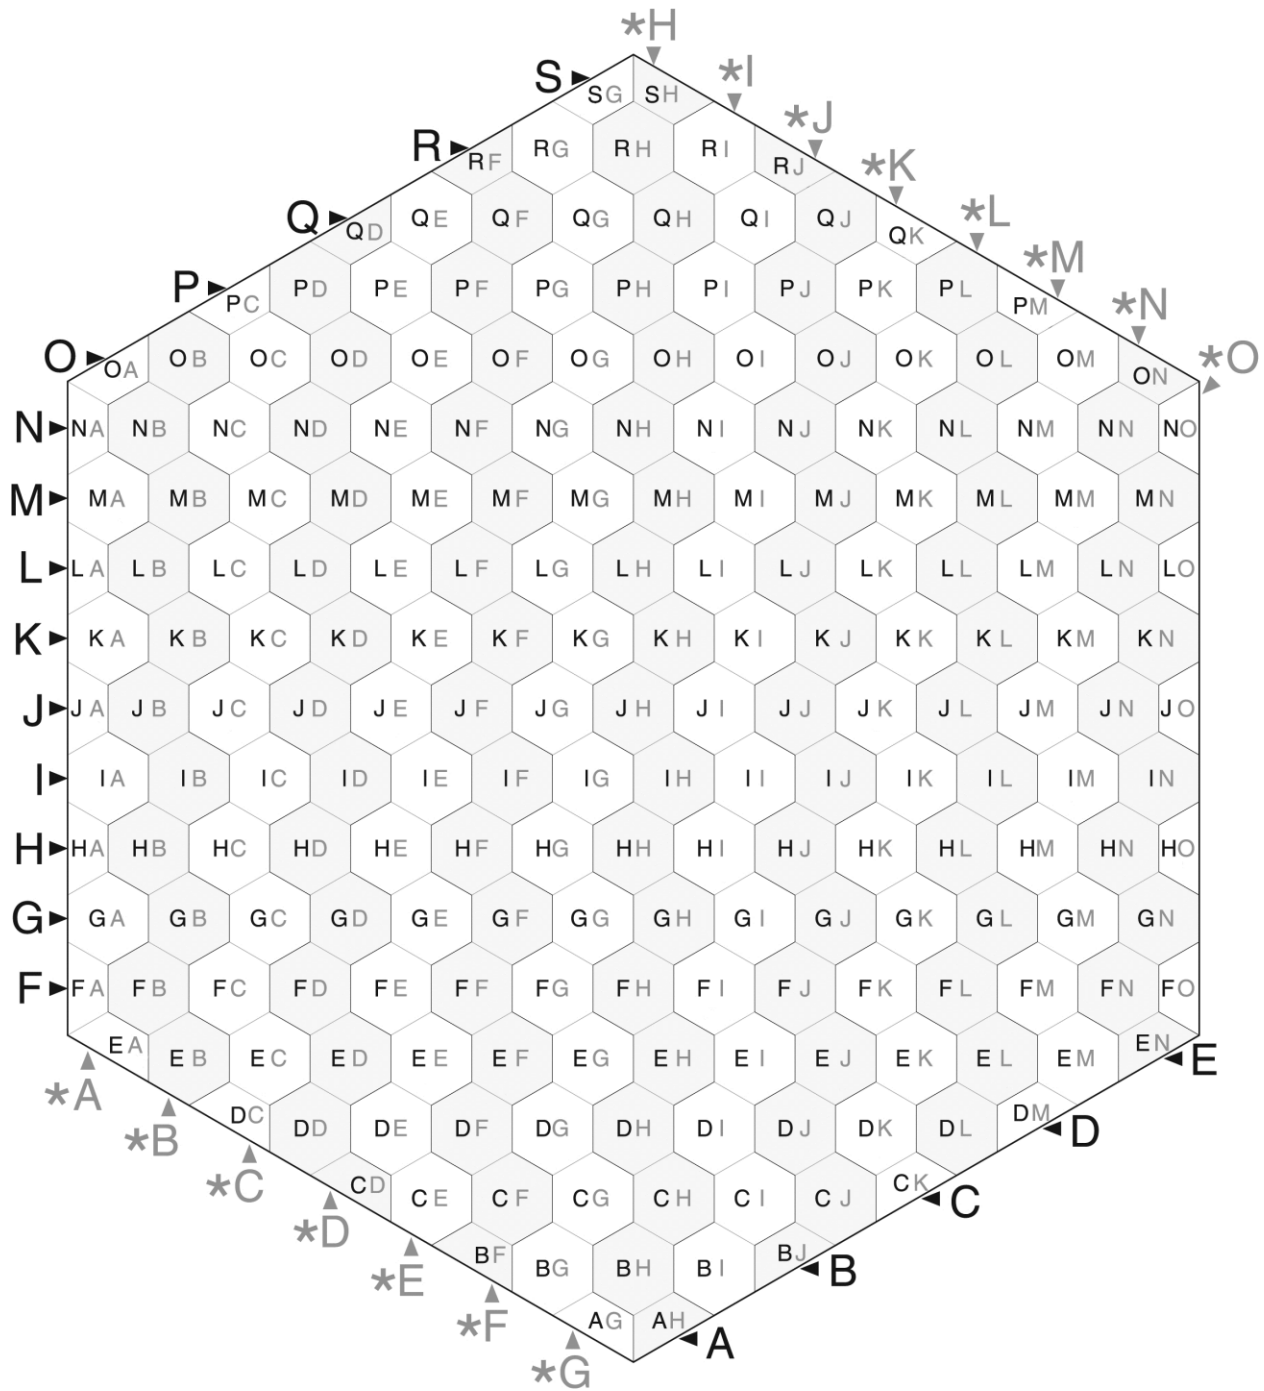

The Small Hexes are 7.1 Tsán (9.5 kilometers, or 5.9 miles) across. Half of this is roughly the distance a person can see to the horizon on Tékumel. If you’re in the center of a Small Hex, its border matches your horizon fairly well. (So, you probably would not see the Village of Quayél from Purmúnin in the neighboring hex unless it was on fire, or some similar circumstance.)

Small Hex Locations

Locations are identified by four-digit Large Hex first, then two letters denoting the Small Hex. The first of these two letters is a row. They are applied from bottom to top, starting with A and going to S. The second of these two letters is a column. These go from left to right, beginning with A and ending with O.

Therefore, the Ruins of Sand are at 4112.FD, while the Town of Katalál is at 3511.PE. Please note, once more, that these are “out of character” coordinates, for the GM’s reference, and not something that the Tsolyáni would know and use.

How Far Can One See?

By default, a human can see from the center of one Small Hex to the center of another. This information is given for the GM who wants to be very detailed.

Up to 1 Small Hex (9.5km, or 5.9 mi)

Height of one's eyes: Example, Distance in kilometers to the horizon

.6m: A Tinaliya, 2.8km / 1.7 mi

.9m: A Nininyal, 3.4km / 2.1 mi

1.5m: An Ahoggya, a Páchi Léi, or a short human, 4.4km / 2.7 mi

2m: A tall human or tall Páchi Léi, 5.1km / 3.2 mi

2.1: A N'lüss, 5.2km / 3.2 mi

2.3m: A tall Shen, 5.4km / 3.4 mi

3m: A human standing upon a stone a meter tall, 6.2km / 3.8mi

4m: Having climbed two meters up a tree, 7.1km / 4.4mi

5m: Standing on the lowest tier on a small Sákbe (3m), 8km / 5mi

Standing on a roof of a one-story structure, 8km / 5 mi

6m: Standing on the lowest tier on a medium Sákbe (4m), 8.7km / 5.4mi

7m: Standing on the lowest tier on a huge Sákbe (5m), 9.4km / 5.8mi

8m: Standing on the middle tier on a small Sákbe (6m), 10.1km / 6.3mi

Standing on the roof of a two-story structure, 10.1km / 6.3mi

10m: Standing on the middle tier on a medium Sákbe (8m), 11.3km / 7mi

11m: Standing on the middle tier on a huge Sákbe (9m), 11.8km / 7.3mi

Standing on the highest tier on a small Sákbe, (9m), 11.8km / 7.3mi

Standing on the roof of a three-story structure, 11.8km / 7.3mi

12m: Standing on the tower* of a small Sákbe, 12.4km / 7.7mi

14m: Standing on the highest tier on a medium Sákbe (12m), 13.4m / 8.3mi

Standing on the roof of a four-story structure, 13.4km / 8.3mi

15m: Standing on the tower* of a medium Sákbe, 13.8km / 8.6mi

16m: Standing on the highest tier on a huge Sákbe (14), 14.3km / 8.7mi

18m: Standing on the tower* of a huge Sákbe, 15.2km / 9.4mi

*"There are guard towers at rough intervals of half a Tsán (600 meters). Near potentially hostile borders they may be closer together, and in remote or centrally-located peaceful regions, they can be farther apart.

Up to 2 Small Hexes (19km, or 11.8 mi)

--Viewer's eyes are somehow at a height of 30m (*Or, object being observed is 30m tall or higher)

--Perhaps standing on the parapets of a large fort atop its hill.
