The primary role of the US Marshals is apprehending fugitives, something they do more than all other federal law enforcement agencies combined.

Note: This package also works for CourtSec, Court Security Division which provides security for all federal courts and close protection for judges when necessary. With the addition of specialized driving or piloting skills this package will also work for personnel assigned to JPATS (Justice Prisoner and Alien Transportation System) which transports about 150,000 prisoners per year.
