The first automobile in the Blackjack InnerCity series is the Urbana Sedan, a vehicle possessing the style of a luxury vehicle and the security and protection of an armored transport. The Urbana features outstanding armor shielding, a low aural and thermo signature, and all the toys necessary to keep you and your client safe in the line of fire - including an integrated ECM system, advanced sensors, and environmental sealing. The Urbana seats five comfortably in its climate controlled interior and provides a storing capacity higher than any other vehicle on the market. Sure it’s expensive, but for the high level shadowrunner it’s money well spent.

>>>>>[This is the kind of vehicle you'd use to ferry around high level clients or other people you want to impress while still giving them the feeling of security that comes from sitting behind a pretty good sized slab of armor. Customizing or repairing the vehicle tends to be a bit tricky because most of the existing components in the Urbana are compacted together and sealed in armor. If something breaks or is upgraded, you can expect it to take at least twice as long as it normally would to fix or replace. The only modification that can be made with relative ease is the addition of a pair of retractable forward firing light weapons in the roof near the rear of the vehicle. All of the mounts are already there, including sensor leads that tie into the driver's controls. The weapons are normally left out, however, because a lot of high level clients get skittish around large guns.]<<<<<
