Based on the Ferrari TXC-Turbo V regulation race car, the Street Reaper has a reinforced chassis designed to withstand the punishment delivered by modern city roadways. Steering precision has also been improved and the vehicle's entire body possesses a layer of armor sufficient to repel small arms fire. Even the Reaper's high performance customized engine has been solidly and meticulously constructed to minimize breakdowns. While not practical in everyday situations, the Street Reaper is a favorite among runners who've made the big hit. It is the ultimate urban toy.
