Bulletin

Issue 4, for October 2000

PDF VERSION

In 1992, Chameleon Eclectic Entertainments published the much acclaimed "BlackEagle/BlackEagle Operatives Kit", which included a 'corporate newsletter' for the company BlackEagle / BlackEagle (the company that player characters in Millennium's End work for). In 1994, they published a new copy of the 'BlackEagle Express', supplied with the "Millennium's End Overlay Accessory Kit" (which included a rather natty mechanical propelling pencil, which I still own <grin>).

As you probably know, Chameleon Eclectic folded earlier in 1999, and the website vanished without warning in January 2000, a rather unfortunate coincidence with the name of the game (Millennium's End). We are therefore unlikely to see another copy, new or otherwise, ever again.

With this in mind, ISG has resurrected the BE/BE Express in a new form, the BlackEagle Bulletin.

Sheppard BlackEagle Escapes Car Bomb

Sheppard BlackEagle Escapes Car Bomb

By Paul Hodgeson, (L&P(SB), Atlanta)

August 21st will be a date that our Executive Vice-President Sheppard BlackEagle is unlikely to forget in a hurry. Despite changing his schedule, varying his routes, checking his automobile, and keeping it in a locked garage, terrorists – as yet unknown – still managed to secrete an improvised explosive device – a car bomb – to the underside of his car.

Sheppard recently took possession of an armoured BMW 6 series automobile, complete with an up-rated engine, strengthened passenger compartment, and all-round Kevlar and bullet-resistant glass armoring. It is this, and this alone, that saved him from serious injury or even death. That, and his much awed leaden foot, that caused the bomb to be dislodged in the moment prior to the explosion, when he bumped off the driveway of his home, onto the road where he lives.

An EOD officer from the Atlanta PD, and one of BE/BE's L&P Security branch, examine the wreckage of Sheppard's BMW635i

Despite the apparent lethal damage in the photograph above, The full force of the device impacted behind the passenger compartment, missed him, but wrecked his car. Sheppard managed to get out, before the resulting fire reached the fuel tank, which caused most of the damage to the BMW.

Sheppard's injuries were minimal (bruising, and a small burn to his arm), and he is already back on the job leading BlackEagle's investigation of the incident.

L.A. cell removed from roll - forever

By Carter Harrison, (SCL, Los Angeles)

July 21st 2000: In a day that will remain dark for a long, long, time, it has been decided that cell 3, from the L.A. field office, will be deleted from the operational rolls of that office, effective immediately. It will NOT be replaced.

The root cause is a cell that may well have gone bad in its' entirety. Already, one cell member is dead, one missing, believed dead, and the remaining four cell members suspended, stripped of corporate identification and issued equipment, and denied access to company facilities, pending a combined corporate and criminal investigation, where there is, apparently, strong physical, electronic, and circumstantial evidence to prosecute.

A lot of high-level meetings resulted in this action, following several blown or mishandled operations, and one completely confirmed leak of sensitive personal information regarding a confidential informant, who is now missing, and presumed deceased.

The lack of detection prior to the event has, in addition, cost us one damned good senior cell leader, who resigned, citing a lack of his own confidence in managing the office anymore. We in the L.A. office are certain of their guilt, no matter what the DA tells us about innocence to before proving guilt. While we are sorry that one, possibly two, cell members are dead, we cannot, and will not, forget their betrayal of us.

Carter Harrison,
SCL, LA Office.

COMPANY ORDER 124 DISAVOWED PERSONS

Effective July 21st 2000, the following persons are to be denied any and all access to company premises, assets, information, aid, and/or personnel.

Mitchell Drake
Annika Gonzalez
Carter Greene
Sammantha O'Shea
Seth Redlingshafer (believed deceased)

These persons are currently subject to corporate investigation for breaches in their terms and conditions of employment, and in matters falling into the jurisdiction of the Los Angeles District Attorney.

Any employee contacted by these persons is required, under section 18(b) of their contract, to immediately report to L&P Security Branch (Atlanta HQ), on internal extension 1225, any attempt by these persons to gain access to company premises, assets, information, aid, and/or personnel.

Sydney Olympics Hire BE/BE for CP! By Sid Reed, Ops, Sydney

The Sydney office had an interesting – and sudden – request from the International Olympic Committee in August, to provide Close Protection support to the referees in the Football competition.

Threats from Islamic Fundamentalists, under the terrorist leader Osama bin Laden, had made specific, and quite frightening, threats to kill the referees invigilating the football competition. Police resources were stretched to the 'Nth' degree, so a Private Security company was sought.

However, BE/BE were retained after a report by the New South Wales Police was seen by the IOC, which reported that the company originally hired for the CP contract was not properly trained in CP work. Their main line of work was in Cash In Transit (CIT), not CP work, and thus their contract was invalidated, due to insurance clauses.

At very short notice, BE/BE were asked by the IOC to step in, and, calling in cells from as far a field as New York, Kyoto, London, Marseilles, and Paris, twenty composite eight man teams were formed, to protect the twenty referees under threat.

Only one (1) incident of note was reported by CP Cell 5 (Paris/Marseilles composite cell), who found a hooker in one of the referees' rooms, prior to their taking up their duties. It would appear that the referee was due to be married following the Olympics, and the hooker had been supplied by his friends!

M25 accident kills fifteen, injures seventy-nine

By John Gilman, Admin, London

Following the successful conclusion of a corporate anti-espionage case by London's Cell Five, tragedy almost struck the London Office again, when cell five was involved in the recent infamous M25 pile-up that claimed fifteen civilians, and injured scores more, some critically.

Caught in the accident were the complete crew to our cell five, including James DiFalco, who you will remember writes the 'Notes From The Street' column in the Bulletin.

While he's not suffering a life-threatening injury, and the other three members of cell five were laid up for a short time in Sidcup's St Mary's Hospital, until transferred to a private hospital, under the BE/BE medical plan, as they are suffering from a series of injuries ranging from James' lower back trauma, to Paul's broken femur.

All are on the road to repair, and we would like to extend our sincere thanks and admiration for the manner in which the emergency services responded to the tragedy in the M25.

James should be back again next issue, on light duties only!

Admin, London

Marseille - news from the front. By Jean Louis Tessier, (SCL, Marseilles)

In our last reports, we detailed the horrendous situation we have out here, with the loss of one cell, and the investigations surrounding the events here. Things aren't getting any better, but they aren't getting any worse either! Thanks to the response to our recruitment drive, we have rebuilt our office's staff, and we're operating about 110% at the moment. A lot of midnight oil is being burnt, but after the arrests of several figures connected with the loss of our colleagues, we are rebuilding our lost confidence.

With the support of the French police in Marseille, we are now managing several government sponsored cells of Sureté personnel which have been set up in response to Marseille's growing drugs trafficking problem. This is beginning to show fruit, as our own cells are able to relax slightly, and direct their workloads towards more profitable, and beneficial assignments. To wit, missions in North Africa, the Eastern Mediterranean, including Israel and Turkey, and Egypt, where a cell was slightly waylaid while on a well earned vacation.

From our point of view, the European Theatre of Operations is only half covered, and we need personnel prepared to spread out a little more, finding the work out here, and maybe even managing an office further into the wild of the Middle East, and the southern reaches of the Eastern Bloc. We have several news agencies giving us priority news on the conflicts, and business concerns in the Middles East that might produce some work for us, and we have had to turn down the odd job here and there, simply down to our own overstretched cells being unavailable.

Another new concept being trialed here is the formation of a new financial investigations cell. Graduates from three of Europe's finest Universities, from the UK, France, and Spain have joined us, and now allow us to investigate major financial fraud in Europe. Associated with this cell are several hackers, gaining us entry to the major City networks of Berlin, London, and France, unrivalled access to the records we might need to identify major money laundering connections, arms deals, anything connected with our investigations. Although not as physically skilled as some of their colleagues, they've already notched up two major busts in the last three months.

Jean Louis Tessier,
SCL, Marseilles

R & R

By Jack Mitchell (Admin, Paris)

OK, sports fans, it's been a rather packed three months, with tennis, golf, all taking place, and my long-awaited transfer to the New York Office finally coming through!

In tennis, Jacques Brimont from Brussels, beat a hefty competition from both the Miami and Sydney offices, to come out 3-2, 4-3, 1-3, against Miles Hart, from the Sydney office, in a final that damn near ended in heat exhaustion for both competitors!

In Golf, as you will recall, the annual Senior Cell Leader's Cup was hosted at Wentworth in the UK earlier this year, and, for once, had good weather. In similar style, the same course held good, weather wise for the annual Cell Challenge Cup.

In a final round that went right up to the 18th hole, the London Office Cell 3 team beat the New York office cell 2 team by 2 holes, at 1 under par, to the New York's equal par. As a result, the London office, having won this event twice on the trot, only need win once more, to retain the cup permanently! Come on, folks – the heat is on!

OK, now we DID have handball, volleyball, and the annual London Office Marathon on for this quarter as well, but with events all over the company conspiring to double the workload in several places (all at once, no less), these events have been postponed until later this month and next month. I'll have the results for you next time.

Until then, this is Jack Mitchell, wishing you all a better fall (That's "Autumn", to you Brits!), see you next time!

Jack Mitchell,
Admin, New York

Training Centre by Rachele Paterson, Range master, Atlanta Training Facility

Hi, and welcome to the first copy of Training Centre; I suppose I should introduce myself. I'm a former New York Police Department Academy Sergeant Instructor in firearms and tactics. I served fifteen years with the NYPD, and resigned three years back, as it wasn't paying the bills (two kids, and a lovable (fat) Labrador to support!). So here I am. No, there's no photo – I still go out on the occasional op, so I'd rather keep my ugly mug away from cameras!

With this column, we hope to be able to make company employees aware of some of the fine training courses that are available, to help develop job related skills. All courses reviewed will have been attended by BlackEagle employees within six months prior to publishing, and hopefully we will be able to update regularly. All employees attending such courses are requested to submit reports to their L&P representative. For our first column however, we will stay in house.

Beyond the firearms instruction during Basic Training, an operative either learns on the job or by taking outside courses. In this job, what you don't know can get you killed, making On the Job Training (OJT) less than an ideal training environment. Outside courses range from excellent, to less than useless, but are always expensive, and usually require advanced registration that is difficult with a BlackEagle lifestyle.

Therefore, the recent expansion of the range facility at the US BlackEagle Firearms Training Centre, not only allows for additional training classes, but allows for in-house advanced training courses. Former and active operatives have been recruited as training staff, and have created a first rate training curriculum.

Initial courses will be offered in five fields; Pistol, SMG, Rifle, Precision Rifle and Small Unit Tactics. Shotgun and Fieldcraft may be added later, as demand warrants. All of the courses offered the first year will be at the Practical level. Advanced level courses will be offered in the following years. All courses are five days long, with a class limit of twenty. Five slots will be open to outside law enforcement. There will be at least one instructor per four students.

Please note: The company has no intention of making a profit off training our own operatives, but nor does it intend to go into the red, either. To this end, each course will cost BE/BE operatives $500, and double that for law enforcement personnel. One meal per day will be provided, and bunks are available. Students supply their own weapons and gear, and will need at least 1000 rounds of ammunition (500 for Practical SUT).

No student may repeat a course, and each of the courses will initially be limited to a maximum of two per year. Course schedules and applications are available from you local L&P Rep, and applications should be submitted through your Senior Cell Leader.

That's it – have fun, and stay safe!

Comment

By Toshiro Hyaku, (Ops, Kyoto).

Comment contains points of view that do not always reflect the 'corporate line'. Comment can be made anonymously, or not, as the contributor wishes. Either way, items in this section are made by members of staff, whether operational, or support, or even from the back-room areas. It's your shout. Make the most of it.

Laws, as some Americans have been known to say, are made to be broken. But what if it's an unwritten law? A moral issue, for which no law could ever be written?

This was the situation that faced us recently in the Kyoto office. We had no choice but to set a 'honey trap', to entice an extortionist, get proof of the socially (not criminally, I am thankful to say) repulsive situation, and blackmail him into leaving our client alone. That we carried it off successfully is by far, in my opinion, pure luck.

Fine, we committed a criminal act in blackmailing the perpetrator. But two wrongs do not make a right. This is my dilemma.

What if we need to do this again? In all good conscience, I cannot, and will not, do this again. It leaves a foul taste in my mouth, and leaves my personal honour in doubt. In my own mind, I have lost face in descending to this evil barbarians level.

What went wrong, along the road of good intentions?

Are we not supposed to be the 'good guys'?

Ed - Toshiro presents an interesting, and very valid point. I'd be interested in hearing your views.

President's SitRep

by Clifton BlackEagle

You have all probably heard the rumours. Now here is the truth. Last week there was an unsuccessful attempt against Executive Vice-President Sheppard BlackEagle's life. Sheppard varied his route to work, the times he travelled and even the vehicles he took. Yet parties unknown were still able to plant an infrared triggered directional shaped charge that nearly took him out.

Luckily the bomb builder did not take into account Sheppard's legendary lead foot, so the triggering delay was slightly too long and the shape charge impacted his armoured BMW behind the passenger compartment.

Sheppard's injuries were minimal and he is already back on the job leading BlackEagle's investigation of the incident. Let this be a reminder to all that regardless of your precautions a determined opponent can still get to you.

More bad news, now.

In a distinctly distasteful turn of events, I have been required to act against an entire cell of operatives, and suspend them from duties. They are now the subject of Company Order 124 (reproduced elsewhere in this issue – Ed), and it looks ever-increasingly as if they will be prosecuted for a string of criminal offences dating back some nine months. I will remind you that these are good people, apparently turned bad. Therefore, until such time as their innocence or guilt is determined, or charges are dropped, they will remain on the disavowed list. No employee is to give these persons any form of aid whatsoever. It sucks, but they may well have betrayed all of us, so I had no choice but to act.

Onto better news.

The recent completion of the expansion of the Atlanta Training Facility marks a major accomplishment for BlackEagle/BlackEagle Investigations. For the longest time Atlanta has barely been able to graduate enough personnel to replace losses with only minimal growth. Now Atlanta will be able to process 40% more students without compromising training standards. In fact, improved facilities should improve the level of training students receive.

European Training Centre delayed – again.

The next major step in company growth is the European Theatre Training Centre. This is a step that has, so far, been little more than a stumble, because of the endless stream of paperwork supplied by the French government bureaucracy. While we continue to pursue the French site, we are now evaluating sites in Belgium and Spain as alternatives. A decision on the viability of the French site will be made by the end of the year.

Another step to enlarging our business, is to make our services more readily available to a larger population base.

To accomplish this, we are looking at sites for new field offices, and have chosen Pretoria, South Africa, as the site of our first African field office. A secured business site has already been acquired and administrative staff are en route. Helmut Knizia, from the Brussels office, has been chosen as Senior Cell Leader and will head an eventual five cells. Operatives, especially Cell Leader eligible, who are interested in reassignment, should contact their Senior Cell Leader as soon as possible.

Finally, Jeremy Carr has taken a job with Royal Caribbean Cruise Lines which will prevent him from continuing the Culinary Combat column in the Bulletin.

Taking the place of Culinary Combat will be the Training Centre, where Range master Rachele Paterson of the Atlanta Training Facility will review training course of possible interest to operatives. Good luck to Jeremy, and we look forward to hearing from Rachele starting in this issue.

Clifton BlackEagle

Notes from The Street

Editor's Note: James DiFalco (Ops, London), having actually got away with a slap on the wrists from his (false identity) court appearance (a fine of £300 and a ticking off!), is, unfortunately not with us again.

The incident is described elsewhere this issue, but he is expected to make a full recovery in the next month, following which, he's indicated that he'll take some well-deserved leave, and be back with his office in time for the next issue!

Jim, we hope the stories of British Hospital food ARE exaggerated, if only for your benefit!

News from L&P... by Todd Bell, L&P, Atlanta

Hi, from Sunny – and loud, as you have heard in this issue – Atlanta.

The recent decision of the US Government to release full MilSpec GPS to consumers has created a flood of new GPS navigation models.

From this point forward Logistics and Procurement will only be carrying these improved models. We will also be initiating an exchange program to speed getting this technology to operatives. Contact your L&P Rep to get the exchange value of your GPS.

Most interesting of the new GPS models is the Magellan GSC1100. In addition to features common on high end models (five coordinate systems, six graphic navigational displays, full-feature course plotter, 200 way point storage, etc), the GSC1100 incorporates email. Utilizing the ORBCOMM system of low Earth orbit satellites Magellan claims coverage of most areas.

However, the features don't come cheap, with a price of $1000, $50 activation and $40 monthly email fee. We are considering making these models the standard issue for out-of-area operations, but don't hold your breath – the testing is in it's early stages.

Now, the above might seem to act against our recent contract with CMI Systems with regard to communications and the BAT III system, but as yet, CMI have nothing to offer in this particular area, so we're going with what's 'on the shelf', and trying, as ever, to get you the best deals possible – watch this space for developments!

Sometimes the contour lines on a map don't do the actual terrain justice. Now with DeLorme's TopoQuad you can get a 3-D look at any point in the US on your computer. Utilizing up-to-date USGS 7.5-minute maps as a base the TopoQuads offer 16 levels of 2-D viewing in addition to 3-D. TopoQuads can measure distance, plan routes, print detailed maps in 2-D or 3-D and can print a cross-sectioned view of a planned route or area. TopoQuads are available for each state and comprise from 7 to 15 CD-ROMs depending on the states size. Prices per state range from $80 to $180.

The first time you shoot someone with a taser and have them smile is probably the last time you use a stun gun. Advances in technology have created the M26 by Taser International, the same folks who brought us the AirTaser.

Styled along the lines of a conventional pistol the M26 utilizes wired probes to deliver a 26-watt charge, as compared to 7-watts of the AirTaser, that in tests was 100% effective at incapacitating the subject within half a second. Range is 7 meters.

The M26 also electronically records the date and time of every use, which can then be downloaded via the internal data port for later use. This is an interesting feature, and will, no doubt, be put to the test in a court sometime soon, so BE AWARE of this, should you have cause to use one!

Price is $399, $18 for single-use cartridge and $99 Kydex belt holster.

Well, that's about it, for another issue. See you all next time, and, until then, stay safe!

RED ALERTS

BlackEagle/BlackEagle
Logistics and Procurement
Branch,
Data Support Section /
Travel Advisory Desk

Welcome to another issue of the BlackEagle Bulletin, Our fourth issue in fact. The Bulletin has been published for one year now. For this issue I have decided to look closer to home for trouble. The KKK is starting to pick up the pace of its activities, so here they are.

Ku Klux Klan #CR000820
Source: FBI, DEA, BATF, Local Law Enforcement, UK Security Service, UK National Criminal Intelligence Service.

Type: Hate-based terrorist organization.
Scope: Frequent attacks against racially motivated targets throughout North America and many parts of Europe. The KKK is truly an international organization with independent cells throughout the world.

Affiliations: Known affiliations with the Aryan World [#CR0001695], the Aryan National Church [#CR0001899] and the Aryan Soldiers of the New Millennium [#CR0002716]. Believed to be linked with The Order [#CR0003475] and the Afrikaner Resistance Front [#CR0002198]. May have also trained members of the Bruder Schweigen [#CR0002198], and provided weapons or equipment to the European Christian Resistance Front [#CR0003822].
[FBI, DEA, BATF, Local Law Enforcement, UK Security Service, UK NCIS]

Structure: The group follows a bureaucratic organization, made-up of many small, relatively independent groups thought to number around 97. Each group is distinct from the others, they rarely cooperate with one another, and recognize no central authority. Some of these groups are very prone to violence, whereas others operate within the law. The ideology of the various factions is virtually indistinguishable, the language of rituals and tests of printed materials are often identical. The differences revolve around issues of personality, finances, tactics, and power.
[FBI, DEA, BATF, Local Law Enforcement, UK Security Service, UK NCIS]

Legitimate Connections: The Ku Klux Klan is funded primarily from membership dues, support from wealthy families and its association with a number of political or corporate sponsors. Additional funding from wealthy members of the various independent cells.

[FBI, DEA, BATF, Local Law Enforcement, UK Security Service, UK NCIS]

Resources: Access to modern military weapons, explosives and training. Moderate intelligence and excellent funding.

[FBI, DEA, BATF, Local Law Enforcement, UK Security Service, UK NCIS]

Suspected Criminal Activity:

Complete numbers unknown throughout their more than one hundred year existence. Activities include murder, arson, armed robbery, and assaults among their more violent actions.

In recent years the Klanwatch Program began a crackdown on the KKK throughout the US, two such examples are given. The Texas Emergency Reserve (military arm of the K-KKK in Texas; established training camps at five rural sites to drill with weapons and practice ambush and demolition tactics; lawsuit by the Southern Poverty Law Centre's Klanwatch Program ordered the camps closed in 1982 when they were found to be in violation of a Texas law over 100 years old which bans "military companies" which privately create a military organization having a "command structure, training and discipline so as to function as a combat or combat support unit" other than those authorized by the governor; SPLC claims over 2,500 were trained by the group).

The focus on military training with weapons and explosives is suspected in connection with a machine-gunning of a gay bookstore that left two dead; using a North Carolina law, the Southern Poverty Law Centre's Klanwatch Project forced the group's leadership to sign a court order prohibiting paramilitary activity; after the group continued to train, the leaders were convicted of criminal contempt, and after appealing all the way to the Supreme Court, were jailed;

SPLC claims over 1,000 were trained by the group). Another more graphic instance of the greater terrorist inclinations of younger Klan groups is shown by the role of Frazier Glenn Miller, former neo-Nazi and leader of the Carolina Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, in instigating the 3 November 1979 massacre of five leftist anti-Klan demonstrators in Greensboro, North Carolina.

Retirement:

Johnston, Friederick. Berlin, North European theatre. After 5 years slugging it out in the Eastern Bloc, Friederick has been given early retirement due to injury. He will be sadly missed, but has threatened to go solo for the right money (Here's hoping he keeps on the right side of the streets)!

Alex 'Butch' Murphy, and the rest of cell #16, Berlin.

Classified Advertisements

Classified ads in the BlackEagle Bulletin are primarily for the use of BlackEagle Employees only; There are exceptions, however. Normally, exceptions are made to persons or entities that provide certain services of solutions for us to be able to complete our assignments in a timely and safe fashion.

NOTE that the submission of an ad to this section, does not mean automatic acceptance - we're limited by our available space, folks!

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Bored with dodging bullets in the old U.S of A? Marseilles Office has only been in existence for the last 6 months, and is looking for personnel from all levels of experience to join one of the most lucrative world markets for BlackEagle/BlackEagle.

A generous relocation allowance to one of the most glamorous European cities, language tuition provided on-site, and generous benefits and bonuses available for current BlackEagle employees.

Marseilles is looking to fill the vacancies in or establishment of five cells, and have posts available for six more operatives. We have the largest scope of any BlackEagle office currently in operation, from Europe to North Africa, to the fringes of the Middle East, with successful missions in Algeria, Egypt, Southern France and Spain.

The proximity to some of the most popular resorts for the rich and famous, including Monaco, guarantees a steady flow of missions from straight Security/Surveillance, through to Hostile Extractions and Interdictions. At the moment, Close Protection work is booming, by the way, so get those transfer applications in fast!

Could you be a Profiler?

Do you have a good background in Psychology?

Oxford University are looking for a qualified ex-law enforcement agent to take part in a planned study of Serial Killers, and other compulsive criminals in the modern law enforcement theatre, eventually leading to a Masters Degree in the subject. This is our first outing in this field, and we would like to utilise the skills of an experienced field operative, preferably one with higher education, with a bachelors degree highly desirable. The individual may also be paid a sum in return for mentoring undergraduates in this field, aiming for law enforcement employment.

And Finally, Did You Know...?

.... that you may not possess a 'military' calibre firearm in Spain? This means that the possession of firearms in such calibres as 5.56mm, 7.62m, 9mm, and so on, is likely to get you a LONG term in prison. Try 10mm S&W, and so on. By the way – you just try to get an assault rifle in a non-military calibre!

Editor's Note: We kid you not: The Spaniards are funny about such things... and they HAVE been dealing with ETA for some years.
