

Finding a New Guy Night Event Near You

By Pete "GreenLantern73" Pelletier

So you're a new player that recently joined HCR realms and/or WizKids' forums OR you haven't played in a HeroClix event in at least 6 months or longer OR you have a friend that you want to teach HeroClix to and you have heard about the upcoming Supernova New Guy Night where you can learn how to play HeroClix and get the Silver Centurion Iron Man Limited Edition figure for free but you aren't sure where the nearest Venue running a New Guy Night event is located. In this short article, I hope to teach you how to find a New Guy Night event near you.

Point your favorite web surfing application to the WizKids website at <http://www.wizkidsgames.com>. On the front page of the WK website, move your cursor to the Event pull-down menu from the list at the top of the page & scroll down to the Event Search option. Click on that in order to get to the Event Search engine.

Make sure that only the 4 HeroClix options are selected (I usually click on Toggle to clear all the check boxes & then just click on the HeroClix boxes). Leave the Search Type & Show radio buttons as is & scroll down to the pull down menus. Set the Status menu to Approved, the Event Type menu to Demonstration and the State/Province menu to your home state or home province.

If you live in a large state or province (e.g. California, Texas, Ontario), you can add in the name of your city or town or the name of the major city or town near where you live so you don't have to search through every listing for your state and province. You can either leave the Show pull down menu as All Sanctioned Events or change it to WK Sanctioned Events. Select the Current and Future Events radio button for the Date Range & click on the Submit button. You should get a list of all the Venues holding New Guy Night events in your state or province.

When you browse thru the list and find a New Guy Night event near you, click on the event's link on the 1st column on the left so you can access the event's description page to get information for the Venue. like the Venue's address & phone number and the date and time that the Venue will be hosting

New Guy Night. You may also want to email or send a private message to the Venue's owner and/or Envoy to pre-register for New Guy Night so that the person running the New Guy Night will be able to keep track of how many players will be attending in case that Venue owner or Envoy needs to send a request to Approved Play for more Iron Man figures just in case the Venue needs more figures for all the players that will be in attendance at the Venue's New Guy Night.

I hope that this short article helps everyone that is trying to find a New Guy Night event in his or her area and I want to thank Daniel "Superfool" Posca who inspired me to see the need to write this article for all players who are new and/or returning to the HeroClix community.
